Abstract

Keywords:

communication management, early marriage, early divorce

The phenomenon of early marriage in Indonesia, particularly in Barumon Tengah District, Padang Lawas Regency, is still often characterized by the practice of marlojong, which arises as a response to communication barriers within families. This condition indicates a serious problem in communication patterns between adolescents and parents, particularly those that are still hierarchical and limit the space for dialogue, thus potentially causing conflict and weakening family functions and traditional values. This study aims to analyze the communication barriers faced by adolescents who want to marry within the family and their implications for the marlojong culture. The study used a qualitative method with a phenomenological approach to explore the subjective experiences of adolescents, parents, and traditional leaders in the marital communication process. Data were collected through in-depth interviews, observation, and documentation, then analyzed thematically. The results show that communication barriers arise from hierarchical family communication patterns and unequal power relationships, thus limiting the space for dialogue among adolescents. This condition encourages marlojong as an adaptive strategy to overcome communication deadlocks. The study also found a shift in the cultural meaning of marlojong from a mechanism of customary compromise to a symbol of resistance by the younger generation to family authority. The social and cultural implications of this phenomenon are seen in the weakening of harmonious family relations and customary legitimacy. This research emphasizes the importance of dialogic family communication to maintain the sustainability of local culture.

Abstrak

Fenomena pernikahan dini di Indonesia, khususnya di Kecamatan Barumon Tengah, Kabupaten Padang Lawas, masih sering ditandai dengan praktik marlojong, yang muncul sebagai respons terhadap hambatan komunikasi dalam keluarga. Kondisi ini menunjukkan masalah serius dalam pola komunikasi antara remaja dan orang tua, terutama yang masih hierarkis dan membatasi ruang dialog, sehingga berpotensi menyebabkan konflik dan melemahkan fungsi keluarga serta nilai-nilai tradisional. Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk menganalisis hambatan komunikasi yang dihadapi oleh remaja yang ingin menikah dalam keluarga dan implikasinya terhadap budaya marlojong. Penelitian ini menggunakan metode kualitatif dengan pendekatan fenomenologis untuk mengeksplorasi pengalaman subyektif remaja, orang tua, dan tokoh adat dalam proses komunikasi pernikahan. Data dikumpulkan melalui wawancara mendalam, observasi, dan dokumentasi, kemudian dianalisis secara tematik. Hasil penelitian menunjukkan bahwa hambatan komunikasi muncul dari pola komunikasi keluarga yang hierarkis dan hubungan kekuasaan yang tidak setara, sehingga membatasi ruang dialog di antara remaja. Kondisi ini mendorong marlojong sebagai strategi adaptif untuk mengatasi kebuntuan komunikasi. Studi ini juga menemukan pergeseran makna budaya marlojong dari mekanisme kompromi adat menjadi simbol perlawanan generasi muda terhadap otoritas keluarga. Implikasi sosial dan budaya dari fenomena ini terlibat pada melemahnya hubungan

INTRODUCTION

Wedding is Wrong One institutions social that has role important in form order life society, no only as bond between two individual , but Also as room rich interaction with values, norms, and not quite enough answer social (Nursalim et al. 2023) . In context Indonesian society, marriage often viewed as phase maturity that marks readiness somebody in undergo life family. However, the phenomenon wedding age young Still become enough reality significant, especially among teenagers who are psychological and emotional Not yet fully mature. Marriage on age young often done Because various factors, such as pressure economy, norms culture, influence environment, as well as ectopic pregnancy marriage. Conditions This cause challenge alone, especially in matter readiness communication between partner.

Married teenagers young generally is at on phase developments that are still ongoing unstable, where ability in manage emotions, taking decisions, as well as build interpersonal communication has not develop optimally (Syalis and Nurwati 2020). This become Wrong One factor main trigger occurrence conflict in House stairs. Conflict that is not managed with Good potential develop become quarrel prolonged, even end on divorce at an early age early. The height number divorce on partner young show that wedding No only need readiness in a way economy And social , but Also readiness in manage communication as foundation main in connection husband wife .

In life House stairs , communication hold role central as means For convey feelings , needs , hopes , and finish differences that emerge (Manuputty et al. 2024) . Communication that is not effective often become root from various problem in family, such as misunderstanding , lack of openness , as well as emergence unresolved conflict resolved . On partner teenagers , problems communication This become the more complex Because influenced by factor age , experience limited life , and pattern think that still developing . By Because that , is necessary something an approach that is not only emphasize on importance communication , but Also How communication the managed in a way systematic And directed .

Management communication in context wedding teenager become relevant concepts For reviewed , because No only focus in the communication process That alone , but Also covers planning , implementation , and evaluation communication in life daily (Yunitasari 2022) . Through management communication , couples young expected capable arrange pattern interaction they in a way more effective , so that can minimize potential conflict And increase quality relationship . Planning communication allows partner For agree method healthy communication since beginning marriage , while implementation effective communication help they in face various problems that arise . On the other hand , evaluation communication become means reflection For repair pattern lack of communication effective .

Phenomenon divorce at an early age early No can released from weakness ability partner in manage communication (Krisnawati et al. 2024) . Many partner young people who have not own skills adequate communication , such as ability listen in a way active , expressing feeling with clear , and manage emotion in situation conflict . Besides that , influence environment social And family Also participate influence pattern communication couples , especially If they originate from background behind family with pattern lack of communication open . In condition Thus, the couple young tend repeat pattern same communication in House ladder they, who on Finally enlarge potential conflict.

In the modern era today this is a challenge communication in wedding teenager Also the more complex with existence influence technology and social media (Aminudin et al. 2025) . Convenience access information and digital interactions do not always balanced with ability good interpersonal communication. In fact, in a number of case, use of social media precisely trigger conflict new in House stairs, such as jealousy, misunderstanding, to decline quality communication direct between couple. This is show that management communication in wedding teenager No only related with interaction face face, but Also covers How partner manage communication in digital space.

Based on these conditions, it is understandable that communication management plays a crucial role in maintaining household integrity, especially for couples who marry at a young age. Several previous studies have shown that family communication is a key factor in maintaining household harmony and preventing prolonged conflict. For example, research by Syalis and Nurwati (2020) emphasized that low emotional maturity in adolescents impacts the inability to manage communication effectively. Meanwhile, Krisnawati et al. (2024) found that one of the main causes of early divorce is weak interpersonal communication between partners. Another study by Yunitasari (2022) also shows that communication management within the family plays a role in building stable and harmonious relationships. However, most of this research still focuses on general aspects of family communication or the factors causing divorce, and has not specifically examined how communication management—including planning, implementation, and evaluation—is systematically applied in the context of teenage marriage. Therefore, this study aims to fill this gap by providing a more comprehensive analysis of the application of communication management in adolescent household life as an effort to prevent early divorce.

Study This become important For done Because Still limited studies that are special study management communication in context wedding teenager as effort For prevent divorce at an early age early . Some big study previously more Lots focus on factor economics , education , or health reproduction , while aspect communication Not yet get optimal attention . In fact , communication is fundamental elements that influence sustainability connection husband wife . With Thus , research This expected can give contribution theoretical in development study communication family , and give contribution practical for partner young , family , and public in build harmonious relationship And sustainable .

Planning Communication in House Ladder Teenager

Results study library show that planning communication is stage a very early start determine quality connection in House stairs , especially on partner teenagers who marry at an early age young . Planning communication No only understood as activity compile strategy communication formally , but Also covers awareness partner in build pattern healthy , open , and meaningful interactions directed since beginning marriage . In context wedding teenagers , planning communication become the more important Because partner generally Not yet own enough experience in manage complex interpersonal relationships .

Teenagers who enter wedding tend bring background behind communication from family origin of each. Pattern communication that is formed since small , both in nature open and closed , in No direct influence method they interact with couple . Results study show that without existence planning agreed communication together , differences pattern communication This potential cause misunderstanding And conflict (Maurida et al. 2025a) . By Because that , planning communication required For equalize perception , values , and hope between partner since beginning build House ladder .

In in practice , planning communication in House ladder teenager can realized through agreement together about method communicate (Natalia 2016) . Agreement This covering right time For discuss , how to convey opinion , and limitation in finish conflict . For example , a couple can agree For No finish problem in condition emotions that are not stable , or choose time certain

For discuss in a way open . Planning kind of This help partner avoid impulsive communication And emotional , which often become trigger conflict in wedding age young .

Planning communication Also related with openness in convey hope And role each in House ladder (Maurida et al. 2025b) . Lots case divorce at an early age early happen Because existence mismatch hope between husband And wife , good in matter economy , distribution role , as well as connection with family big . Through planning communication , couples teenager can discuss things the in a way more beginning so that potential conflict can minimized . With Thus , communication No only functioning as tool delivery information , but Also as means negotiation And adjustment in connection .

Results study Also show that planning good communication can increase quality openness emotional between couples . Teenagers who are used to plan communication tend more capable disclose feelings , needs , and concern they in a way honest . This is important Because openness emotional become foundation in build trust And intimacy in connection husband wife . On the other hand , without planning communication , couples tend harboring feelings that Finally can trigger more conflict big later day .

I implementation planning communication in House ladder teenager No let go from various challenge . One of the challenge main is limitations maturity emotional And ability think term long on partner teenagers . Many partner young people who are still putting ego first and Not yet used to do reflection to pattern communication they . Besides that , influence environment social And culture Also can influence effectiveness planning communication , especially in society that still adhere to pattern communication hierarchical And not enough open .

In perspective management communication , planning is function the basis that becomes runway for implementation And evaluation communication . Without thorough planning , communication in House ladder tend walk without direction And prone to to conflict . By Because that , planning communication need viewed as an ongoing process , not only done at the beginning marriage , but Also Keep going developed along with dynamics connection .

With thus , it can concluded that planning communication own very important role important in guard harmony House ladder teenagers . Through good planning , couple can build pattern healthy communication , managing difference in a way constructive , as well as prevent occurrence conflict that ends on divorce at an early age early . Findings This confirm that success wedding No only determined by factor external like economy , but Also by ability partner in plan And manage communication in a way effective .

Implementation Communication Effective in Manage Conflict

Results study library show that implementation communication effective is aspect crucial in guard stability connection House stairs , especially on partner teenagers who marry at an early age young . On stage this , communication No Again is at on level planning , but rather on How partner apply pattern communication in life everyday , especially moment face conflict . In context wedding teenagers , conflict is things that are not avoidable remember partner Still is at in phase development emotional And social that has not been fully ripe .

Conflict in House ladder teenager generally triggered by various factors , such as problem economy , differences character , jealousy , to mix hand family (Nurhayati et al. 2022) . In situation said , the ability partner in carry out effective communication become determinant main whether conflict will completed in a way constructive or precisely develop become prolonged quarrel . Result study show that capable couple apply communication effective tend own level more conflict low And deeper relationship harmonious .

Implementation communication effective in manage conflict marked by a number of indicator main , namely ability listen in a way active , usage polite language , as well as ability control emotions . Listening in a way active means give attention full to what was conveyed partner without interrupt or direct give evaluation (Tahir G et al. 2024) . In in practice , many partner teenagers who have not own skills this , so that communication often changes become event each other blame . In fact , with listen in a way active , couple can understand corner view each And find more solutions appropriate .

Use polite language Also become element important in communication effective . Harsh words or hurtful No only make things worse conflict , but Also can leave wound prolonged emotional . In wedding age young , where control emotion Still Not yet stable , use language that is not appropriate often become trigger main escalation conflict . By Because that , couple need get used to self use constructive language And No attack personal partner .

Ability manage emotion Also become factor key in implementation communication effective . Teenagers tend more reactive in face conflict , so that frequent communication done in condition emotions that are not stable (Yorman et al. 2025) . Results study show that communication carried out in condition angry or emotion tall tend No produce solution , but rather enlarge conflict . By Because That is wrong One form communication effective is ability For postpone talks until condition emotional more stable , so that communication can ongoing in a way rational And directed .

Implementation communication effective Also covers ability partner in convey feeling And need in a way clear And honest . Many conflict in House ladder teenager happen Because existence assumptions or hope that is not expressed in a way directly . In matter this , communication assertive become important , namely ability convey opinion without touch on or demeaning couple . With open communication And honest , couple can avoid misunderstanding as well as build trust One each other.

Implementation communication effective in House ladder teenager No always walk with easy . One of the constraint main is low experience And skills communication owned couple . Besides that , influence environment family And social Also can form pattern lack of communication healthy , like habit communicate in a way authoritarian or avoid conflict . Condition This cause partner tend repeat pattern communication that is not effective in House ladder they .

In perspective management communication , implementation is the stage at which plan communication implemented in action real . Success stage This very depends on consistency And commitment partner in apply principles communication that has been agreed upon . Without good implementation , planning communication that has been made No will give significant impact to quality connection .

With Thus , the implementation communication effective in manage conflict own very important role important in prevent divorce at an early age early . Effective communication No only help partner finish conflict in a way constructive , but Also strengthen connection emotional And increase quality interaction in House stairs . Findings This show that ability communication is Wrong One skills main thing that is needed owned by partner teenager For build House harmonious stairs And sustainable .

Evaluation And Control Communication For Guard Harmony

Results study library show that evaluation And control communication is stage continuation that is not lost important in management communication House stairs , especially on partner teenagers who marry at an early age young . If planning communication functioning as base And implementation as implementation , then evaluation And control play a role as mechanism reflection And repair sustainable to pattern communication that has been executed . In context wedding teenager , stage This become crucial Because partner Still is at in the learning process understand dynamics connection And Not yet own pattern established communication .

Evaluation communication can understood as a process of assessment effectiveness interactions that have been done by partner in life everyday . Through evaluation , couple can identify whether the communication they have get up has walk in a way open , mutual appreciate , and capable finish conflict in a way constructive (Alfi Wirda Mawaddah 2024a) . Results study show that couples who are routine do evaluation communication tend own deeper relationship stable And capable reduce potential recurring conflicts . Evaluation This No must done formally , but can realized through conversation reflective between partner about experience communication they .

In practice , evaluation communication in House ladder teenager can done with method each other give bait come back in a way open . For example , a couple take time time in a way routine , such as every end week , for talk about things that are felt during undergo relationships , including feeling No comfortable or misunderstanding that occurred . A wife , for example , can convey that He feel not enough heard moment talking , while husband can explain the obstacles he faced without each other blame . Another example , when happen conflict , couple can reflect return method they communicate , such as realize that use of high tones or emotional words precisely make things worse circumstances . Through this process , couples can together look for a better way Good in communicate in the future . With existence evaluation conducted in a way open And constructive , couple teenager can repair pattern communication they in a way sustainable as well as strengthen quality connection in House ladder .

Partner can discuss things that are felt not enough comfortable in communication , such as method over delivery emotional , lack of attention moment listen , or existence unresolved misunderstanding completed . This process need courage And openness from second split parties , because No all individual capable accept criticism or input with good . However thus , the bait feedback delivered in a way constructive precisely can strengthen connection And increase quality communication .

Control communication Also become aspect important in guard harmony House stairs . Control communication referring to on ability partner in arrange And direct pattern communication to remain is at in healthy boundaries And No harm relationship . What is meant by with “ healthy boundaries ” in communication is conditions in which interaction between partner still based on attitude each other appreciate , no using harsh words or demeaning , as well as avoid form verbal abuse such as shout , sarcasm in a way painful , or blame in a way excessive . Besides that 's healthy boundaries Also covers ability maintain a calm tone still calm down , no force will , and give room for partner For convey his opinion in a way free . For example , when happen conflict , couple choose For postpone talks when emotion currently high so as not to hurt feeling One each other, and continue it return when condition Already more calm down . With guard limitation healthy communication , interaction in House ladder can ongoing in a way more constructive And support creation harmonious relationship (Maghfiroh et al. 2024) . In context this , control No means limit communication , but rather manage communication No develop become destructive conflict . For example , couples need avoid use of hurtful words , maintaining a calm tone of voice , and control emotion moment communicate .

Results study show that control communication very related with ability regulations self , namely ability individual in manage emotion And behavior in situation certain . On partner teenagers , abilities This often not yet develop optimally , so that communication easy influenced by emotion a moment . By Because that , control communication become challenge alone in wedding age young couple need Study For recognize trigger emotion And develop strategy For manage it , such as take time for a moment before respond or avoid talks moment condition emotional No stable .

Control communication Also covers consistency in apply agreement communication that has been made previously . In Lots case , couple teenager has own agreement about method communicate , but often not consistent in implementation . Inconsistency This can cause confusion And distrust in relationship . By Because that , commitment For guard consistency become part important from control communication .

Besides internal factors of the couple , support from environment external Also can play a role in the evaluation process And control communication . Family , figures society , as well as counselor can become the party that helps partner in reflect pattern communication they . In a number of case , presence party third can give perspective new And help partner find solutions that do not can they achieve alone . This is show that evaluation And control communication No only is individual, but Also can involving aspect more social wide .

In perspective management communication , evaluation And control is stage functional end For ensure that the communication process walk in accordance with expected goals . Stage This Also become base For do repair And adjustment to strategy communication that has been applied . Without existence evaluation And control , communication in House ladder tend walk without direction And potential cause recurring conflicts .

With Thus , evaluation And control communication own very important role important in guard harmony House ladder teenagers . Through the process of reflection And sustainable management , partner can repair pattern communication , improve quality interactions , as well as prevent occurrence conflict that ends on divorce at an early age early . Findings This confirm that success wedding No only determined by ability communicate , but Also by ability For evaluate And control communication in a way effective And sustainable .

DISCUSSION

Phenomenon wedding age young No can released from various dynamics social , cultural , and the psychology surrounding it (Alfi Wirda Mawaddah 2024b) . In context this , communication become element the key to success sustainability connection House stairs , especially on partner teenagers who have not own maturity emotional And adequate experience . Based on results study library , management communication that includes planning , implementation , and evaluation And control proven own role strategic in guard harmony House ladder And prevent occurrence divorce at an early age early .

On stage planning , communication in House ladder teenager No can viewed as a process that occurs in a way experience without direction . Instead , planning communication become foundation important in build healthy relationship since beginning marriage . Teenagers who marry young often brings difference background behind value , pattern foster care , and experience communication from family origin each one . Without existence clear planning , differences the potential cause repeated misunderstandings (Achmad Thorik et al. 2025) . By Because that's the deal beginning about method communicating , sharing participation method finish conflict become very important . In matter this , planning communication functioning as mechanism preventive measures that can minimize potential conflict in House ladder .

Planning communication No always walk effective if No followed with ability good implementation . On stage implementation , challenges main issues faced partner teenager is How apply effective communication in situation real , especially when conflict appears . Conflict is the part that is not inseparable from life House stairs , but method partner respond conflict the become determinant main quality connection they (Alfi Wirda Mawaddah 2024c) . Results study show that capable couple apply communication effective , such as listen in a way active , using polite language , as well as manage emotional , tend to more capable finish conflict in a way constructive .

On the contrary , failure in implementation communication often become trigger main occurrence prolonged quarrel . Teenagers tend own control emotions that have not been stable , so that communication that occurs in condition emotion tall often of a nature reactive And No rational . In situation this , communication No Again functioning as means settlement problem , but rather precisely make things worse conflict . By Because that , ability manage emotion And guard quality communication become very skill important for partner young . Effective communication No only emphasize on what was conveyed , but Also How method convey message the .

Openness in communication Also become factor important in guard harmony House stairs . Many conflict in wedding age young happen Because existence assumptions or hope that is not communicated in a way clear (Lestari et al. 2024a) . Couple often expect his partner For understand desire they without must expressed in a way directly . Condition This create gap communication that is on Finally trigger misunderstanding. By Because that , communication assertive , namely ability convey feeling And need in a way Honest without hurt couple , become Wrong One aspect important in implementation communication effective .

Evaluation And control communication become stage that is not lost important in management communication House ladder (Lestari et al. 2024b) . Evaluation allows partner For reflect pattern communication that has been they run , identify weaknesses , as well as look for method For fix it . Without existence evaluation , couple tend repeat pattern communication that is not effective , so that the same conflict can happen in a way repeated . In matter this , evaluation communication No only functioning as tool correction , but Also as means learning for partner in increase quality connection they .

Control communication Also play a role in keep the interaction between partner still is at in healthy boundaries (Rahmayanty et al. 2023) . Ability control emotions , choosing the right words , and maintain a calm tone is part from control very good communication important . On partner teenagers , abilities This often not yet develop optimally , so that required effort aware For practice And develop skills said . Control communication Also covers consistency in apply agreement communication that has been made, so that connection can walk in a way more stable And directed .

Discussion This show that management communication No only related with aspect technical communication, but Also related close with factor psychological And social maturity emotional, pattern foster care family, and influence environment social own significant role in form pattern communication couple . Teenagers growing up in environment with pattern communication open tend more easy apply healthy communication in House stairs. On the other hand, those who are accustomed to with pattern communication closed or authoritarian tend experience difficulty in build effective communication.

In modern context, development technology and social media Also participate influence pattern communication in House ladder teenagers. In one side, technology can become means for strengthen communication, but on the other hand also can become source conflict new. Lack of communication direct and increasing interaction through digital media can reduce quality proximity emotional between couple. By Because that, management communication No only need done in interaction face face, but Also in use of digital media.

Implications from findings This show that effort for prevent divorce at an early age early No can only focused on factor external like economy or education, but Also must notice aspect communication in House stairs. Management good communication can become strategy effective preventive in reduce conflict and increase quality relationship. By Because that's important for partner teenager for get education and mentoring related skills communication before and during undergo wedding.

Role family and public Also No can ignored in support success communication in House ladder teenagers. Family can become source learning beginning for teenager in understand importance healthy communication. Meanwhile that, the institution social and education can play a role in give provisioning about skills communication and management conflict. With existence support from various parties, partners teenager expected can build deeper relationship harmonious and sustainable.

Discussion This confirm that management communication is factor key in guard harmony House ladder teenager and prevent divorce at an early age early. Planning communication help partner in build foundation strong relationships, implementation communication effective allows they manage conflict in a way constructive, while evaluation and control communication ensure that connection Keep going develop to more direction good. With Thus, success wedding No only determined by material readiness, but Also by ability partner in manage communication in a way effective and sustainable.

CONCLUSION

Based on results study library, can concluded that management communication own very important role important in guard harmony House ladder on teenagers who marry at an early age young as well as in prevent divorce early. Management communication that includes planning, implementation, and evaluation and control proven become foundation main in build healthy, mutual relationship understand, and capable manage conflict in a way constructive. On stage planning , couple need compile agreement communication For equalize hope And role, on stage implementation , required ability communication effective like listen in a way active , usage polite language , as well as management emotions ; whereas on stage evaluation And control , couple do reflection And repair sustainable to pattern communication that is carried out . Findings study show that failure in manage communication become factor main trigger conflict prolonged until divorce early, while managed communications with Good capable create deeper relationship stable and harmonious. By Because that, success wedding teenager No only determined by factor economy or social, but Also by ability communication, so that required education and mentoring for teenager in develop skills communication use support formation harmonious family and sustainable.
